SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

Traders who expected a continuation in the bull movement in wheat and corn were grievously disappointed yesterday. Despite the efforts of a large and powerful contingent of bulls to keep values on the upturn, selling was the order of the day, and occasional turner advance was the fact that most of the shorts who were so badly scared in the recent bulge had their lines pretty well covered. Outside buying orders were scarce and receipts were good considering the state of the roads in most sections of the winter wheat their rore commented to prepare the statements as to the extent of the damage done by the recent rains.

Corn was in light demand in a speculative way. There was little professional trading sets and most of the buying was by scalpers. Lack of outside support caused the market.

27 and 515915, Cottenwood—Mill run at $150616; box boards (12 inches and over) at $15072; college bible $15072; college b grievously disappointed yesterday. Despite the efforts of a large and powerful contingent of builts to keep values on the upturn, selling was the order of the day, and occasional concerted buying caused only fitful rallies. First among the factors which prevented a further advance was the fact that most of the shorts who were so badly scared in the recent bulge had their lines pretty well covered. Outside buying orders were scarce and receipts were good considering the state of the roads in most sections of the winter wheat belt. The Government crop report was in itself a bearish argument in that it was far more communicative than private-wire statements as to the extent of the damage done by here and most of the buying was by scalpers. Lack of outside support caused the market to ease off in line with wheat.

July wheat opened %c up and closed %c up.

July corn opened the off and closed the off.

July oats closed like off.

Produce was in good demand and in lighter supply. Prices were generally firm. Local securities were more active, but, except for tractions, values were easy.

LIQUIDATION IN WHEAT WEAKENS ALL GRAINS.

CORN FUTURES ARE NEG-LECTED.

Government Report on Weather Conditions Favors the Selling Side.

Slight losses were the rule in all grains on the local exchange yesterday. There was little outside buying interest at the opening and liquidation was decidedly brisk. Government report on the damage done by the recent rains was much more conservative than the bulk of private wire adces. The latter were again charged with ements that vast areas had been laid caste, but the information did not have the expected bullish effect,

July wheat opened %c up and sold at: Table. Ta

DESPITE ADVANCE, JULY CORN DEAL IS NEGLECTED.

Chicago, July 2.-The grain markets were distinctly quieter to-day, although nervousness over the weather and crop damage were still apparent. Signs of clearing weather in the West were influential in hecking advances. The July corn deal was reglected. July wheat closed he higher; Sept. wheat %c lower; July corn 14c up; Sept. corn 'sc lower; Sept. oats 'se down. Provisions closed 25c lower to 25c higher.

more to show, showers having failen liber-ally during the night. Commission houses more to show, showers having fallen liberally during the night. Commission houses hought, and Sept. during the first hour advanced to 754-275%. This proved to be the highest point of the day in this option. Shorts seemed to be pretty well covered, thanks to their strenuous exertions of yesterday, and scattered reports that the weather was getting clear in the West found the market ready for a reaction. Local bears sold liberally, and St. Louis added to the pressure. The quantity disposed of was not heavy, but Sept. gradually receded to 75%. Here the pressure eased and thereafter the market ruled sleady. At one time Sept. got back to 74% to but the close was %c under yesterday at 74% to the time Sept. got back to 74% to the high point of July wheat was 77% c. The high point of July wheat was 77% c. The high point of July wheat was 77% c. The high point of July wheat was 77% c. The high point of July wheat was 77% c. The high point of July which sold Sept. and bought July. July, however, participated in the easier tendency, and following the buige worked down to 74% 674% c. The deciline was largely due to profit-taking, and when this let up, prices steadied, and the close was %c over yesterday at 76% c. Seaboard clearances were 129,000 bu, and primary receipts 420,000 bu, compared with f52,500 bu last year. Local receipts were 34 cars, i of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 227 cars, making a total for the three points of 261 cars, against 305 last week, and 171 a year ago.

Provisions were dull but steady in the absence of selling prisume. What business there was was almost entirely in the way for changing. September prok closed 2½c higher at $18.57%, September prok 2½c lower at $10.70, and September prok 2½c lower at $10.70, and September prok 2½c lower at $10.70, and September into unchanged at Easthmated receipts for to-morrow.
